ANDREW STUTTAFORD

NATIONAL REVIEW ONLINE

Andrew Stuttaford is a British-born journalist, an banker by profession, and a Contributing Editor to National Review Online (www.nationalreview.com), the Web edition of the conservative magazine National Review. You can find much of what he has written on the Web site. His areas of focus can be divided into two distinct topics: contemporary popular culture and international politics. His recent work in the former has included articles on underage drinking, war toys, and TV and movie criticism. On the latter subject, he has written on eastern Europe, British politics, and the war against terrorism, since September 11.

INFORMATIVE SEMINARS BY: American Red Cross in Greater New York

Recent tragic events have left many people concerned about the possibility of future incidents. The American Red Cross in Greater New York is always there with emergency relief in the aftermath of disasters. The Red Cross works in communities every day by teaching people skills they need to prevent, prepare for, cope with, and respond to emergencies in order to save lives. The American Red Cross offers Preparing for the Unexpected. The American Red Cross offers a 90-minute presentation called "Preparing for the Unexpected" that teaches families and businesses safety steps they can take during times of disaster. Topics include "How to Create an Emergency Communications Plan," "How to Assemble A Disaster Supplies Kit," "What to Do if Disaster Strikes," "Evacuation," and "Basic First Aid." And it's free!

Special group presentations can be scheduled by calling Abigail Adams, Project Manager, at (212) 875-2134 or by e-mail at adamsa@arcgny.org. If you would like the opportunity to see a presentation, you also may attend one of our weekly Thursday classes. Presentations are given at 6:15 p.m. at 150 Amsterdam Avenue on the 5th Floor. Please call Abigail Adams to confirm your attendance or if you have any questions.

REPORTER OF THE WEEK

Tuesday, January 29, 2002

President Helen Reisler initiated Fellowship Day by welcoming all members and guests. Scarlett Pildes, accompanied by David Dingle on the piano, led us in the singing of The Star-Spangled Banner. Arthur Auslander followed with the invocation. David Wankoff introduced Rotarian visitors from three countries and six different states. Nadia, a visiting Rotarian, asked for a moment of prayer for a teenage girl visiting the U.S. for a major operation.

As the day's meeting was Fellowship Day, Rotarians benefited from the time to get to know fellow members better. In addition, President Helen updated us on the progress the New York Rotary 9/11 Adoption / Vacation Committee is making. The committee is meeting every week and appreciates the worldwide support of various Rotary Clubs. In addition, many contacts are being developed throughout the City with potential candidates for this program. One item currently being explored is how best to provide air fare for the program's beneficiaries, possibly through Rotarians' contributions of their individual frequent flyer points.

President Helen announced that the 9/11 Fund has grown to over $1.3 million and specific organizations have been approved for grants amounting to $227,000. The organizations that will be receiving these monies, donated by Rotarians from all over the world are Safe Horizon, $100,000 for counseling for post-traumatic effects of 9/11 victims, Seedco, $100,000 for the direct support of small businesses affected by 9/11, Children's Health Fund, $7,500 for children, some of them orphans due to 9/11 for books, toys, and the Fraternalite Notre Dame, $20,000 for food that was provided at Ground Zero from day one.

Executive Director Andreas announced that the Rotary International Conference will be taking place in Barcelona, Spain, from June 23 to June 26. He said that the conference would be a perfect opportunity to share in fellowship with Rotarians from all over the world, as well as to have some fun. A promotional video with R.I. President Richard D. King was shown to the members.

CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS

The Education Committee is seeking volunteers to read to children at a select group of New York City hospitals and grade schools. Please contact Sylvan Barnet or the Club's office if you wish to participate in this program.

For your information, this year's Rotary float in the New Year's Pasadena Roses Parade had "Around the World through Education" as its theme. It highlighted tutoring, book drives, helping adult literacy classes, improvement of primary education, and literacy mentoring for children.
